19 Portraits. 19 Women.

A workshop to perform a self-portrait on our face and on our person. To act the Eroika image of each of us through the art of body decoration.

The artificial becomes more real than normal.

To show how rich the visual expression linked to the body would be if we did not have stereotypes of mass media culture, gender, class.

As nature shows us with fractal structures, the branches of the same tree are similar but unique.
